TECHNICAL SPECIFICATIONS

This unique property was declared “Bien de interés cultural” (National Heritage). The architectural style is mostly Gothic-Mudejar although there are also Arab, Isabelino and neoclassical details. The castle’s origins aren’t clear, some researchers believe that it goes back to the 8th century -ABD-Al Rahmaan’s construction- others, however, consider it to have been made by Almanzor (10th century).

Unfortunately, no relics of such a remote period are still found at the castle, the arches, however, can be traced back to the 12th and 13th century.

In the 14th century, the castle was the Aragon kings’ abode.

In the 15th century, John the II gave the property to D. Álvaro de Luna. It was later acquired by the Catholic Kings.

Apart from the castle, the property also boasts a traditional mill, campsite, a crypt, warehouses...

ABOUT THE AREA

Spain, a country on Europe's Iberian Peninsula, includes 17 autonomous regions with diverse geography and cultures. Capital city Madrid is home to the Royal Palace and Prado museum, housing works by European masters. Segovia has a medieval castle (the Alcázar) and an intact Roman aqueduct. Catalonia's capital, Barcelona, is defined by Antoni Gaudí's whimsical modernist landmarks like the Sagrada Família church.

Castile and León is a region of northwestern Spain, consisting predominantly of a high plateau ringed by mountains. Salamanca is known for its 12th-century university, Renaissance churches and baroque Plaza Mayor. Segovia's ancient Roman aqueduct has more than 160 arches, and the hilltop Alcázar castle overlooks the city. Ávila is encircled by an 11th-century fortification wall with 82 semicircular towers.

Segovia is a historic city northwest of Madrid, in central Spain's Castile and León region. Its centuries of settlement have resulted in a rich architectural legacy, including medieval walls, Romanesque churches, a former royal palace and a Gothic cathedral. Its iconic ancient Roman aqueduct has more than 160 arches, most in the original mortarless granite, and stands above Plaza Azoguejo in the heart of the city.
